

Who can help me with curations?

Last Modified on 06/20/2025 12:04 pm EDT

This article explains where to go for support if you have questions or issues while creating, editing, or sharing curations in Big Think+.

Whether you're launching a new learning program or troubleshooting an issue, support is available to help you get the most out of the curations feature.

Start with your internal Big Think+ admin or program lead

If you're unsure about your permissions or how your organization is using curations, reach out to:

- Your internal L&D team lead
- A designated Big Think+ contact
- Anyone managing your company's Big Think+ rollout or engagement strategy

They can help confirm whether you have the Manage Curations permission and offer guidance on content strategy.

Contact Big Think+ Partner Services

If you need help with:

- Technical issues creating or sharing a curation
- Feature behavior that doesn't seem right

Reach out to our support team at partnerservices@bigthink.com

Our team is happy to help troubleshoot or answer any questions about how curations work in your organization.
